LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY: WEDNESDAY MRNING, FEBRUARY 2, 1859.

The delegates appointed by the several and neetings will assemble at the Masonic Temp, at o'clock to-night, to make nominations fecity offices. We hope that every delegate willo to the meeting with a full conviction of the itertance of the duty he is going to perform. Theonvention should be a gathering togetherf no hildren for child's play, but should be ma up f men, called together upon all-important usi-

If the convention will make the right so of ominations, the Democrats can carry the ci.-If, on the contrary, careless nominationare made, and worthless men are brought beforthe people, they will be beat, and that is right. Let us have no nominations but the best. Let notan be put upon the ticket because he wants be there, unless he is worthy and capable. Lus have a model ticket, and success will crowipur efforts.

The people of Louisville are weary of IN rule. A change is demanded by many who ave neretofore been with the conquerors. If wean't have a full Democratic ticket, let us have a prtjet one set of politicians watch the other, if the ing better can be done. A good deal of watchg is necessary in city affairs-in the collecting nd paying out of money-in the making and perfming of contracts. Let the Democracy give he people the right sort of a ticket—a ticket thatvill nspire confidence-and all things will work ell.

UNKNOWN MAN DROWNED .- About 8 o'ock Monday night a man was drowned from the sail line wharf boat, under the following singulariramstances: Mr. Campion, the agent of the sail oats, was in the wharf boat awaiting the arval of one of his men, when he heard the foot-stes of some one walking across the forward part of the boat. The next instant there was a loud spash in the river, and running out, he saw a man suggling with the current as it swept him pas the wharf boat. He, at one time, had his head and shoulders well out, as if he was endeavorig to swim, but directly he sank down, appaintly making no effort to save himself. Mr. Campion made every effort he could tosave he man, and tried to throw him a line, bt he lisappeared before he could be reached, and ever again came to the surface. He made no ou-cry whatever, the only sound heard being the jurg ling waters in his throat, as if gasping for breath as he disappeared. No vestige of the unfortunate man was left behind, not even a hat, and i is probable that he premeditated self-destruction, as his step across the wharf boat was regular ind firm, and not the uncertain walk of a drunlen man.

ARCTIC PANORAMA .- The triumphs of this cdebrated work of art have been of the most soid character; not ephemeral brilliancy like an ignis fatuus, but a light, steady and fervent, like that which emanates from the noonday's sun, sill illumines its successful career. In after years the Arctic Panorama will be referred to as among those rare productions which enchanted the worli, and even as "distance lends enchantment to the view," so will this brilliant achievement of American genius be held as a luminary whose beams far outshone the dim rays of the stars of the day. At a first glance it may appear strange that such a constant and unvarying success should have attended it; but when we remember that the Arctic regions have been attracting the attention of the civilized world for over two hundred years, and recently rendered memorable by the tragic fate of Sir John Franklin, and the heroic exertions of our own countryman, Dr. Kane, to rescue the lost style in which the artist has displayed the excelvuutea for, and a brilliant future expected. There will be an exhibition this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and another this evening. LETTER FROM DORA .- We have on file a charming letter from "Dora," who will hereafter be a egular contributor to our columns. We shall lay it before our readers Saturday morning, and hope to give them a communication from her gitted pen at the close of every week. She is a native Kentuckian, now resident in New York, and will there put such thoughts upon paper in such a style as will please her numerous friends and admirers in this region. We intend to spare no pains hereafter to make the Courier as welcome to the fire sides of our thousands of readers as varied and excellent reading matter can make it. AN OUNCE OF PREVENTIVE IS WORTH A POUNT or Cure.-How many thousand individuals having hereditary predisposition to organic disease of a destructive character, might be saved by the timely use of that wonderful restorative, known as Hurley's Sarsaparilla. It acts more efficiently in complicated and obscure diseases than in any other class of affections, and is therefore had resource to when all other known remedies fail to DREADFUL ACCIDENT .- A little girl, the daughter of Mr. Hulce, living near the corner of Chestnut and Sixteenth streets, caught fire from the grate, on Monday night, and was so terribly burned she died in a few hours. The little girl suffered horribly until death released her. Her parents were absent from home at the time.

THE LUNAR LAMP. - We have given this lamp fair trial, and find that it is all that is claimed for it. It gives a brilliant and beautiful light, is cheaper than oil or gas, and is easily managed and kept in order. Mr. Geo. Beatty, in the Masonic Temple building, is selling large quantities of them. Messrs. C. C. Green & Co. will sell this norning, at 10 o'clock, at their auction rooms. a lot of bonnets, millinery, etc., by order of the Marshal; also a lot of sheet music, spring matresses, dry goods, etc. Also, a splendid bar-room

THE CASE OF KELLY FOR CUTTING MELLEN .- An xamination of Jno. Kelly, for stabbing Mike Melen, took place yesterday, before justices Clement and Matlack. As we have mentioned, the affair occurred Sunday night, at the house of Michael McDermott, near the water works, and outside of the city limits. Jno. Hays, the only witness present, testified that Mellen had been in the habit of rigging his jokes on Kelly, which, on the night in question, while all of them were in bed, in duced the exasperated defendant to apply an epithet to Mellen. The latter immediately sprung from his bed, and before Kelly could arise, commenced choking him. In this posture of Kelly and his personal affairs he drew a knife, and stabbed and cut his adversary in five places. Dr. Gilpin stated that Mellen was in a fair way to recover, and that he did not consider him in a dangerous condition. The Court decided, under the circumstances and evidence, that Kelly acted in self-defense. He was therefore discharged.

A FORTUNATE DISCOVERY .- The alaim of fire, at o'clock yesterday morning, was occasioned by he flooring of J. R. Winter's store, in the National Hotel building, catching on fire from a flue. It was luckily discovered by private watchman Thos. Slater, who gave the alarm, and obtaining entrance, extinguished the fire with a few buckets of water. A hole of three feet was burned .-Slater deserves great praise for his watchfulness for, had it made much more headway, the hotel, and perhaps the whole block, might have become prey to the devouring element.

THE OLD FOLKS. - This uniquest and most orignal of all companies that ever traveled and entertained the musical people of this country, gave their first grand concert at Masonic Temple last night. It was crowded, and from the hearty goodeeling apparent, we should say the audience were delighted in the highest degree. We confess that they won our individual and enthusiastic admiraion. They repeat the concert to-night-37 perormers, and all for 25 cents.

BROKE Down .- An omnibus from the Louisville of precious human freight to the steamer Argonaut, snapped an axle at the intersection of Water and Fourth streets. The sudden stoppage and shock startled the insiders, surprised the outsiders, and frightened the horses. The latter made an effort to complete the "wreck of matter," but were checked by the crowd which inevitably gathers on such occasions.

THEATER .- Werner, or the Inheritance, another f Mr. Wallack's sterling pieces, will be performed to-night. It is much to the credit of this fine actor and his accomplished wife, that they appear in a round of pieces which are either entirely new, or are so rarely brought out that they ocupy nearly the same position to the public. The laughable farce of "A Bull in the China Shop," will follow the tragedy. STEALING .- In the vicinity of Jackson and Main streets live some very bad boys, who are in the habit of pilfering little things, and occasionally larger things. They were detected last evening, by the superintendent of Dravo's coal yard, in the act of stealing some chains belonging to the yard. A good dose of sprouts would teach these young scapegraces not to make such free use of property not their own.

THE SUPPOSED SUICIDE.—The remains of M. N. Craig, who was shot through the heart on last Friday night, in this city, were taken to Cincin nati. His relatives there entertain the idea that he was murdered. A report has been in circulation in this city for some days past, that those boys who had broken into Mr. Todd's store in Milltown, St. Stephens about a fortnight ago, and stolen some articles o clothing therefrom, and had been detected, tried, convicted, and sentenced to St. Andrews jail for the crime, during the cold night of Tuesday or Wednesday, one of them had frozen to death in his cell. Two of the boys were of the name of Dean, one of whom it was that died. We have not heard the name of the other. It is said the boys cried murder, and did all in their power to make the jailer hear and liberate them, and let them go where there was a fire, but he could not be made to hear, or, if he heard, did not heed them. LETTERS FROM WASHINGTON.

[Corrrespondence of the Louisville Courier.] Mayor Berrett-The $30,000,000 Bill-The Black Cats-Mr. Burnett and the Gibralter.

Washington, Jan. 24th, 1359. Editors Louisville Courier:- In my last letter but one, I made, either covertly or directly-no matter which, for my present purpose-the charge that he Mayor of this city, Col. Berrett, "might have een seen" in a gambling-house. At the time I wrote that letter, I had a statement of the charge ontained in it from a man whom I supposed to be reponsible, and entitled to credit. I did not intend to be understood as having seen the Mayor in a gambling-house, for I never enter them. I was informed that he was there. Upon investi gation, however, my informant turns out to be entirely unworthy of credit. I therefore take much more pleasure in giving an early contradiction to the charge than I did in making it .such a charge against a Democratic official is always a source of regret, and all good Democrats will be only the more rejoiced to learn its

The $30,000,000 bill is making an awful flutter mong the already broken ranks of the Opposition, and the probability now seems to be that nany Republican members will vote for it, hoping, what they do not believe, that Mr. Buchanar will utterly fail in any endeavor to acquire Cuba by purchase. I say hoping, for there are many ensible, clear-headed men among the Opposition leaders, and they know Mr. Buchanan.

The wrangling of the Hards and Softs in New York may fret the President; Forney and his gang of malcontents may give him some trouble n Pennsylvania; Lecompton and anti-Lecompton in Illinois may split the party there, spite of his desire to promote the harmony of the party; troubles and squabbles here may place his Administration in a temporary minority n Congress, but every man who knows the character of the "Sage of Wheatland," knows that, place the chess-board of European diploma ev before him, and there is no man living or nd Nashville Railroad, while conveying its cargo either continent who can play the game with so steady a nerve and so clear a foreshight as he can. He knows more men among the great tatesmen of Europe than any man or ten men in this country, and besides knowing the men he knows the interests and many of the objects of each. Country editors may write, and city politicians may declare that such and such were the reasons of my Lord Napier's recall from his mission here, but Mr. Buchanan knows the true reason, and while he is President his knowing it is sufficient. Gore Ousley came here to learn Mr. Buchanan's policy toward Central America, and when he went away the gossips about town knew as much as he did. He left here with a wink and a chuckle, and newsmongers thought he must have carried away a great amount of very important secrets. But the President was well satisfied with he result of Sir Gore's labors. The latter is now enjoying himself quietly with a winter in the ropics.

> The Opposition platform has, as I have often old you, dwindled into a love of everything which runs counter to the true interests of the United States. Does England wish to baffle us, they are the friends of England. Does France endeavor to cross the path of our "manifest desti ny," they become in a moment the champions of French interests, and point with well-feigned terror to the great warlike movements of the Em. peror. But in this case the ammunition is thrown away. Spain can sell Cuba. The dismemberment of the remains of the old kingdom of Spain will suit the purposes of Louis Napoleon better than any other result. He would accomplish by cunning what his great uncle endeavored to acomplish by hard fighting. A Bonapart on the hrone of Spain would suit him better than a veak queen, subject at all times to the alternate ontrol of contending cabals. The sale of the sland of Cuba to the United States will place the crown of Spain in the hands of the Emperor. The thing will suit him, and, depend upon it, in spite of all the fears of the Repulicans, Napoleon will help With this comnation, the position of England is a matter of no consequence. No force of circumstances, no power on earth, could involve England in a war with this Government. Queen Victoria, with her nteresting family, would be exiles in a month rom the day the declaration of war was published by the London Times. Cotton, not Cuba, is king n England.

ler the gallery of the new Senate chamber, ogether with the early publication in New York of the account of the angry debate between Senators Fitch and Douglas, is exciting much nerriment and some wonder vet.

That there is one or more trap-doors by which man, or at least a cat, might pass from the galery into the open space under it, and above passages and ante-rooms, "is most true." True, too, hat the cats lived in there; true, too, they were ound there. Did the cats carry the news to the Herald's Washington correspondent, or was there man in with the cats, who told the story? One thing we do know: it is not probable that three men in Washington, except Senators and the Secretaries of the Senate, knew anything of the debate until the Boys were crying about the streets, 'New York 'Erald, sah-row in secret session

There are but few men in Congress who, conidering their age and length of time in public life, have attained to higher position as a debater and parliamentarian than Mr. Burnett, Being courteous in his manners, always speaking to the oint, and never assuming ultra positions upon Opposition often engage with in a "rough and amble debate;" and after having seen his conduct in many such encounters, I have yet to see him ome out second best. On such occasions I often lear spectators in the gallery saying, in an under one, "that's Burnett, of Kentucky; now you'll see the fur fly," or, "he's going to question Burnett: he'd better let him alone; he'll make nothing off him." These little things, though amounting to nothing themselves, are often as good as any ther criterion by which to estimate a man's real trength. Let the gallant Democracy of the "Old Frank H. Thurman. Gibraltar" elect Mr. Burnett to the next Congress, Lord Lyons, the new British Minister, is and he will enter it with a capacity to serve them

[Correspondence of the Louisville Courier.] Re-Opening of the Slave Trade-Hon. Humphrey Marshall-Jefferson Territory - Kentuckians The Lost Pleiad. WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.

Editors Louisville Courier: The discussion on the re-opening of the slade trade was brought up acidentally in the House a few days since. I considered its discussion as premature, and Miss. He died at Woodville, in that State, on the raught with "evil, and evil only." Mr. Burnett took a decided and manly stand against its agitaion at this time, and his remarks were characterized alike by force and power. The South has nothing to gain and everything to lose by the agitation of this matter, and, in my opinion, it is the better policy to let it remain undisturbed. I do not desire to see another slavery excitement precipitated upon us. The Black Republicans were chuckling at the glorious prospects before them, and ordered, I understand, large numbers of the Globe, containing the speeches of the fireeaters.

did injustice to him in my review of his speech. It was certainly not my intention to have done so I have not the documents before me to-day, but so soon as I receive them, I will examine his position, and show wherein I conceive he has erred heretofore. My course in regard to all questions and all men is to speak out what I believe-and I shall never, to gain a political advantage, do injustice to a political adversary. I would, however, state that I do not, by any means, consider Mr. Marshall's past position on the subject of slavery as correct, and I think that when I shall hereafter render him justice, as I intend to do, will be the very last thing in the world he could have desired.

thousand persons would emigrate to them during the present season. From all the information I can gather, I do not think there will be less than one hundred thousand, and some believe there will be from two to three hundred thousand. The appointment of Maj. Mason, of Kentucky, as Governor, (which it is unanimously conceded will be made,) will be at once recognized as the very best that could be made; and I have no doubt his appointment will cause thousands of Kentuckians to emigrate to the El Dorado of the West. A mistaken idea prevails as to the fertility and productiveness of the soil of the proposed Ferritory. I would state that, from all I can learn, it is a good agricultural country, and I therefore advise all who go to provide themselves with agricultural implements. The bill organizing the Territory was vesterday introduced into the House. A large number of Kentuckians have been with us during the present week, among whom are Thos. B. Monroe, Jr., Esq., and Robt. J. Breckin ridge, Jr., Esq., of Lexington; Capt. Jas. S. Jackson, of Hopkinsville; Col. T. T. Hawkins, of Louisville; Col. Carey Hawkins, of Madison, and E. H. Taylor, Jr., Esq., of Lexington. But while it is my pleasurable duty to receive the advent of so many representatives of the chivalry of Kentucky, it becomes my duty also to ecord the departure of one of Kentucky's fairest and most brilliant daughters. I allude to Mrs. H. R. C-ke, of Harrodsburg. No one has ccupied a more prominent or enviable position n Washington society, and the departure of no ne could awaken more universal regret. A lady of high intellectual gifts and acquirements, a nost brilliant conversationalist, and withal, most beautiful and accomplished, she was a favorite in the brilliant circle in which she moved.

The meeting of the Democratic City Convention has been postponed from MONDAY to WEDNES-Masonic Temple. The Delegates to said Convention are requested to meet at Masonic Temple, on EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The Bowling Green Standard, a Democratic weekly, gotten up in the best style of our friend Frazier, has hoisted the name of Hon. James Guthrie for the Presidency in 1860. We copy the following from the Standard of last week, which will meet with a hearty response in thousands of who is better qualified to be the successor of our distinguished President, Old Buck, than Ken tucky's son, the Hon. James Guthric. We is a gentleman of the finest natural talents, which were cultivated by superior educational acantages, and have been matured and ripened by diligent study since his advent into public life.—

It is also true that he possesses unquestionable gifts as an orator, is of ripe judgment, comprehensive statesmanship, and has all of the industry requisite to the management of the affairs of this nation. With James Guthrie as the standard bearer of the Democracy, the vote of Kentucky would be the largest, ever polled and Kentucky would be the largest ever polled, and we verily believe his majority would not be less than fifty thousand in this State. Mr. Guthrie's honesty and integrity, his private worth, his great ability, his remarkably industrious habits, and his unyielding determination to prosecute to a successful issue any line of policy which he has marked out after it received the approval of hi judgment, are evidences that he would discharg the duties of President to the satisfaction of his d, from our knowledge of him and his pubevery one, from Maine to Mexico, and from Atlan-tic to Pacific's wave, to fill the Presidential chair with credit to himself and honor to his country.— A better or safer man cannot be found in all the land. He is the noblest specimen of a Kentuckian, and has ever proven himself to be equal to any emergency in which he has been placed.— Those who know him, either personally or by his public acts, must concede that there are few men with so many of those high and essential attributes necessary to make us one of the best chief magis trates we have ever had.

This institution is most favorably known to the people of Kentucky. It was founded some eight years ago by several philanthropic gentlemen .-It is located near Midway, Ky., on the railroad leading from this to the city of Lexington, and distant from the latter city about fourteen miles. Among those who rendered it valuable service, stands John J. Crittenden, who, at one of its an niversaries, appealed to the liberality of the citizens, and raised a large amount towards its endowment. The late lamented John T. Johnson spent several years of his life in its behalf.

It has been in operation eight years, and many of the pupils have been educated for teachers, and are now profitably employed in that distinguished of 29 acres of land, which it owns, and has now invested in bank stocks about thirty thousand dollars, and also outstanding subscriptions amounting to some twenty thousand dollars. The interest on this sum, annually, is appropriated to the clothing, boarding, and education of the orphan girls. The principal of this endowment fund is sacredly held as a permanent fund, never to loss will be about eight thousand dollars, which was not covered by insurance.

Elder R. C. Ricketts, one of the trustees, and agent for the school, is now in the city, soliciting aid to rebuild the institution. The claims of the orphan girl are always sacred, and appeal most successfully to the hearts of true men and women The institution receives only orphan girls, and proposes to educate them for usefulness.

A CREMB OF COMFORT. -The three-column plat itude of which Toss-of-a-copper Marshall was lately safely delivered in the House of Representatives, seems to be a perfect god-send to the F. N. nee K. N. editors of Kentucky. They cackle over it like a young biddy over her first egg. In it they discover all sorts of good tidings to the Opposition, and all sorts of death-dealing destruction to the Democratic party. One editor of the enthusiasm, which permits him to declare that the speech of Toss-of-a-copper "is a streak of glory in the East." Northern light, it strikes us, would be more appropriate, but as we have not the christening of the bantling, we have no right to ob ject. The idea is suggested by the fact that two Northern mid-wives presided at the birth of this "streak of glory."

JEFFERSON TERRITORY-Hon. JOHN C. MASON. We fully agree with our Washington correspond ent, "Occasional," that the appointment of Hon. John C. Mason, as Governor of Jefferson Territory, would be hailed with joy throughout the South and West. No better appointment could be made .-The energy and ability of Mr. Mason eminently fit him for the position.

We suppose that Sister Middleton, of the Shelby News, who was wont to go into hebdomadary hysterics over the "Anti-American Democracy," will have to call our party the "Anti-Opposition Democracy." Oh, well! The longer we live the older we grow!

Shooting Affray in Hancock County. We learn that an affray occurred in Hawesville on the 27th inst., between T. S. Lowe and A. M. Mayo, which resulted in Mr. Lowe's firing a pistol at Mr. Mayo, which fortunately missed him .-The particulars which led to the difficulty were, we hear, about as follows: Mr. Mayo called on Mr. Lowe, at his store room, and desired to know whether he had stated that he (Mayo) was a man that would not stand. Mr. Lowe asked for some particulars as to the time, place, and connection in question. Mr. Lowe then said if Mr. Mavo swer it. Mr. Mayo declined this, and Mr. Lowe which Mr. Lowe levelled his pistol and it snapped Mr. Mayo reiterated his remark that Mr. Lowe who then left.

About two hours after the above occurrence Mr. Mayo approached Mr. Lowe on the street, and violent language passed between them, and it was expected that another shooting affray would take place, as each of the parties confessed to the other that he was armed. We believe him to be a man who earnestly endeavors to do what is right, and we know that when a host of enemies have in times past endeavored to kill him, and terrify him, that he never flinched. He is most respected by those who know him best, and although he has three times been indicted for shooting with intent to kill, in Hancock county, he never sought a change of venue, and was acquitted each time by a jury of his neighbors. We are pleased to learn, moreover, that in the affair just narrated, Mr. Lowe showed a commendable disposition to avoid misunderstanding about the use of the Hall at difficulty. He only resorted to weapons when called a coward-a charge which no Kentuckian would hear to his face and not resent to the death

> What Douglas' Friends say of his Ccurage. A Washington correspondent of the New York l'imes, (Douglas paper), under date of January

The correspondence between Fitch and Douglas published in this morning's Union, has produced a painful impression amongst the friends of the latter gentleman. it is an entirely new feature to find a new and select stock that does not show the traces of inexperience.

Our Mr. Oberndorfer, however, is not only acquainted with the Eastern markets, but he combines therewith a thorough knowledge of our home wants, and has thus been enabled (in taxing the place of the late deceased

THE INSPECTORS.—In the Cincinnati Gazette of yesterday, some one, an inspector probably, accuses us of "endeavoring to ridicule the report of the Inspectors in regard to safety guards, and pilot's rules," and thinks we are "not posted." To this we do not demur, but will state that we do not wish to make light of it are report to the label. wish to make light of it, or expect to "shed light upon" it in any way. THE COLLISION OF THE DELEGATE AND ELLA.—
The following, from the officers of the Delegate, is in refutation of a card of the passengers of the Ella, which appeared in the Courier:
They state that the Delegate tried to cross the bow of the Ella, and caused the collision which resulted so fatally to our boat. The true position of the boats was as follows: The Delegate, ascending, was keeping the Kentucky shore, heading to the point, leaving more than two-thirds of the river to the Ella; the Ella, descending, had the channel and all the river to herself, but through had the channel and all the river to herself, but through had the channel and all the river to herself, but through some misunderstanding she came almost at a right angle toward the Delegate, and strack her on the left or larboard side. Now, how could it be possible that the Delegate was trying to cross the bow of the Ella, and receive her injury on the larboard side? Reason would teach that, had the Delegate attempted to cross the Ella's bow, she would have been struck on the starboard instead of the larboard side. This matter, no doubt, will go through a proper investigation, and we deem it wrong for any parties to give to the public erroneous statements.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 1st .- SENATE .-The bill was then taken up by a vote of yeas 30, nays 24, and the Senate proceeded to discuss its Mr. Gwin, of Cal., and Mr. Stuart, offered amendments to test the bill, after which, Mr. Pugh moved to recommit the bill to the Committee on Public Lands. Before coming to a vote the enate adjourned.

House.—Mr. Hughes, of Ind., moved to table the bill. The motion was negatived; yeas 76, nays 115. The Homestead bill was then passed by a vote of 120 yeas to 76 nays.

The Homestead bill provides that any person who is the head of a family and a citize United States, and who has filed his intention to become such according to the naturalization laws, shall be entitled to enter a quarter section of any vacant or unappropriated land, and hold the same on condition of actual settlement and cultivation. then taken up.

Mr. Burlingame, of Mass., said that, inasmuch as the claims covered by this bill have been discussed for the last fifty years, he had risen, not to make a speech, but a motion. Twenty-six reports had been made in favor of those claims. The bill had passed the Senate five times, and the House , and it had been twice vetoed; once, because of the pressure on the Treasury during the Mexican war, and the other time under, as he believed a misapprehension of the facts. Twelve States, through their Legislatures, have recommended the passage of the bill. He moved the previous question.

Mr. Letcher, of Va., raised a point of order as to whether the bill can be considered without a reference to the Committee on the Whole on the state of the Union. He held that under the terms of the bill it makes an appropriation of money. Mr. Washburn said that under a decision heretofore made, it was not necessary to refer such a bill, as it only provided for ascertaining the amount of liabilities, and did not appropriate Mr. Letcher urged that the bill was of such con-equence that it should certainly have a full and

Mr. Burlingame reminded the gentleman from Virginia? of the fact that Mr. Buchanan, when a Senator, had not only consented to the bill being reported, but had voted for its passage. As the Washington Union, the President's organ, this morning published Webster's speech in its favor, it was to be presuped the President was still the presiden morning published Webster's speech in its favor, it was to be presumed the President was still friendly to the bill.

Mr. Letcher replied—Does the gentleman from Mass. pretend to bring here the opinion of the President, as a power sufficient to control the members of this Union? Was that the purpose of the other side, from which we had been told, over, and over again, of executive influence? But even suppose that Mr. Buchanan, as a Senator, reported the bill from the committee and voted for it, is that a reason why the House should de-part from its rules, and refuse to consider the bill in Committee of the Whole? Mr. Burlingame desired to withdraw his sug gestion that the President may be in favor of the bill, from the way things went yesterday, when the motion to introduce the Loan bill was so dis-strous. He did not believe the suggestion would id the bill.

Mr. Letcher replied that the gentleman from Massachusetts need not think to help his origina position by that shift. In reply to a question pu by Mr. Davis, of Md., Mr. Letcher said—The President and Secretary of the Treasury, when-ever there was a surplus fund, apply it under the provisions of this bill, to the redemption of the proposed stock of five millions. If his recollec-tion was not at fault, Mr. Buchanan was a mem-ber of the Cabinet at each time when the former spoliation bills were vetoed, and he supposed Mr Buchanan must at these periods have been con sulted as a member of the Cabinet.

Mr. Hughes moved to table the bill, which was egatived—yeas 75, nays 106.
The Speaker, for the reasons stated, decided that the bill makes an appropriation, and must be considered in Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union. Mr. Florence, of Pa., appealed from the decision of the chair.

On motion of Mr. Sickles, the appeal was tabled—yeas 128, nays 59.

The bill was then referred to the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union. Mr. Russell, from the Committee on Indian of fairs, reported a bill relative to the settlers on the New York Indian reservation in Kansas.

Pending the consideration of the bill, the House
